Refined answers and Copper Home

Q What are Refined answers?

Copper answers most questions with Raw Ore, an everyday cloud model that's quick and good for most jobs. Refined uses more advanced models for complex questions and planning, like "Plan a 3-day Sedona trip for two kids who hate hiking" or "Explain my water bill." Refined is only available with Copper Plus.

Q Does every question use Refined?

No. Copper picks the right model for each request. Simple commands run on the device, everyday questions use Raw Ore, and complex requests use Refined. In a typical Copper Plus household, about 1 in 5 requests gets a Refined answer.

Q Can I choose Refined for a question?

Copper chooses automatically. If an answer isn't detailed enough, ask a follow-up, like "Can you go into more detail?"

Q What changes for Household Memory?

Memories are kept for 12 months instead of 30 days. You can still view and delete any memory anytime in the Copper app.

Copper Plus and Copper Notes

Q How much can I record?

The free plan includes up to 10 hours of recording a month. Copper Plus has no monthly limit.

Q What's a long-form summary?

A detailed summary for long meetings and lectures, with sections, key points, decisions, and action items. Standard summaries are shorter and cover the main points.

Q Can I search my old meetings?

Yes, with Copper Plus. Search across all your past recordings, for example "What did we decide about the budget?" On the free plan you can read each summary, but not search across them.

Q Is my recording sent to the cloud?

Copper Notes transcribes on the device. Only the transcript goes to the Copper Cloud to be summarized. With Copper Plus, transcripts and summaries are kept for 12 months instead of 30 days.

Billing, trials, and refunds

Q Is there a free trial?

Yes. Every new Copper device comes with a 30-day free trial of Copper Plus. Your subscription starts automatically when the trial ends, unless you cancel before the last day.

Q Does one subscription cover all my devices?

Yes. One Copper Plus subscription covers every Copper device in your household, whether it's one Copper Home or three Copper Homes and two Copper Notes.

Q How do I cancel?

In the Copper app, go to Settings > Subscription and tap Cancel. You keep Copper Plus until the end of the period you've paid for.

Q Can I get a refund?

Monthly plans aren't refunded for partial months. Annual plans get a full refund if you cancel within 14 days of purchase. See Section 4 of the Terms and Conditions.

Q Can I switch between monthly and annual?

Yes. Switch in Settings > Subscription. The new plan starts at your next renewal. The annual plan costs $79, less than 12 months at $7.99.

Privacy and is it worth it?

Q Does Copper record me?

Copper Home listens on the device for "Hey Copper" and sends nothing to the cloud until it hears it. After the wake word, your request is saved: 30 days on the free plan, 12 months with Copper Plus. You can delete it anytime in the Copper app.

Q What happens to my data if I cancel?

Your household goes back to the free plan, which keeps data for 30 days. Review anything you want to keep before your paid period ends.

Q Do you sell my recordings or use them to train AI?

No. Copper State Labs doesn't sell recordings and doesn't use them to train models unless you opt in.

Q Is Copper Plus worth it for me?

If you mostly use Copper Home for timers, lights, and the weather, the free plan may be all you need. Copper Plus is worth it if you ask Copper complex questions, record more than 10 hours a month on Copper Notes, or want your household's memories kept longer. Try it free for 30 days and decide.

Q How do I get priority support?

Copper Plus members are first in line with the Copper Crew. Contact them in the Copper app under Settings > Help.
